

Assess Communication Effectiveness

Assessment Questions

Whether you're interacting with family, friends, clients or coworkers – effective communication is the key to success.

You cannot avoid communicating – even silences mean something.

These helpful questions can promote honest reflection on the quality of your communication...

- When have you avoided communication? Why?
- How do others see you?
- What three words describe your communication?
- Where are your hidden agendas?
- Which feelings do you convey with your messages?
 - Fear?
 - Contentment?
 - Frustration?
- How does manipulation or control affect your communication?
- What can you do differently, yet still accomplish goals?

No matter how you communicate, people notice even subtle details. How do others see you?
